Addition, we hereby direct the scientific paper entitled " Profile of publications about functional foods in Brazilian journals: a meta-analysis between 2000-2015 and an overview of Brazilian legislation" for consideration and publication in this prestigious journal.

The present research aimed to collect information about publications covering the topic of functional foods in journals, synthesizing these data and interpreting them, evaluating the profile of the authors and a frequency of the articles involved with the subject by scientific journal and by State/region. Subsequently, they were evaluated as the most studied foods and as more used methodologies, besides a small discussion about the advances of the Brazilian legislation on the subject.

I should mention that this article is being submitted only to this Journal and never published before.

Right to rely on the evaluation of this Committee, I subscribe myself.

My best regards,
