The Ometeca Institute is a non-profit organization devoted to the study of the relationship of the humanities and science. Ometeca is from the Nahuatl meaning two in one: humanities and science. Its purposes are to study the relations of the humanities and the sciences. Through this study we hope to generate theory about a unified view of the humanities and the sciences. The study of the relations of the humanities and science in Hispanic and Luso-Brazilian literatures and cultures provide a limitless resources which have not been fully explored.
