Revista Psicologia em Estudo: socializing knowledge more dynamically

We present to readers, the Journal Psicologia em Estudo in the year 2018! The socialization of knowledge has always been the core commitment of the journal and this year we will bring some changes. Until 2017, the journal had one volume and four issues published per year, from 2018 we will only have the volume and the publication will be continuous.

This change was necessary to speed up the process of publishing and socializing scientific knowledge. In this way, the approved text will not need to wait for the complete issue to be published and its availability will be faster allowing the knowledge to circulate.

In the spirit of the new year - 2018 - readers will have access to articles from various types of qualitative research: conceptual, bibliographic and empirical research. We reiterate our commitment to be a journal of psychology that dialogues with other human and health sciences.

We wish you a great reading.
